What is forex & why it matters

Forex = Foreign Exchange. It's the world's largest financial market, moving over $6 Trillion every day. Unlike stocks, it's open 24 hours, 5 days a week — and you can trade from anywhere with an internet connection.

Think of it like this:

Buy one currency when you expect it to rise.

Sell when you expect it to fall.

Profit whether markets are going up or down.

That's why so many people are drawn to Forex — it's global, flexible, and you can make money from anywhere.

Watch this short video to see how it works step by step.

How You Actually Make Money in Forex

You can profit in Forex whether prices are going up or down.

Going Long: Buying a currency pair if you expect it to increase in value.

Going Short: Selling a currency pair if you expect it to decrease in value.

Pips: The smallest unit of price change. Profit is calculated in pips, multiplied by your trade size.

Example:

If you go long on EUR/USD at 1.1000 and close at 1.1020, you profited 20 pips.

Here's how that translates into money:

- 1 Standard Lot (100,000 units) → $10 per pip → 20 pips = $200 profit
- 1 Mini Lot (10,000 units) → $1 per pip → 20 pips = $20 profit
- 1 Micro Lot (1,000 units) → $0.10 per pip → 20 pips = $2 profit

Your lot size determines your earnings — but also your risk.
